

Hi All

The new website has gone live !!

Its in the same place but has a totally different look and feel.

www.wooplaw.org.uk

Not only that but we can change things ourselves so it shouldn't go out of date.

We've got the calendar in for the whole of 2011 - the last Sunday of every month - including Christmas.

We've still to get some more of the pictures into the albums but that can happen over the next few weeks.

Marcus is working on getting Paypal onto it so we can accept money using credit cards.

We've got links in with our friends on the web.

You can still book the log cabin (if your a member)

There's a blog - what's been happening recently. I think that future newsletters will also copy some of the blog.

The "Where's Wooplaw" page has new map links, co-ordinates and a post-code for satnavs, whatever they are.

You can contact the committee - whoops, we should put a list of them on the site.

Feedback would be appreciated.

You can point the way for more people to sign up for this newsletter too. Just send them THIS way.

ZZAAAAAAPP !!

The dreaded fence at Gullet got another lot of Perth College Students

See the video HERE.

November activity

We need to update our 5 year plan. Well that's our excuse for a good walk around the woods.

We'll kick off at 10:30 from the log cabin and go around all of the different areas; Axehead, Bigwood, Gullet and Easterpark.

We'll visit the buildings, at least 7 of them, think about it.

See the sculpture trail.

See Gullet pond raised to its new level - full !

Its a great opportunity to come and find those parts you've never discovered yet.

Oh, and we'll see what we'd like to do in future and put it in the plan - good time to propose that orchard.

Just to get into the habit; Its the last Sunday - 28th November

Facebook

For you social networkers we've now got a site on facebook too.

The calendar is there already. (apologise to present friends as they got all the notifications as it was set up a year in advance.)

Send everyone our way. LINK

Halloween

Some great pictures on the website.

I love this one.

We had a four and a half stone pumpkin lantern.
New chimney thanks to Millburn Garage, Stow.
New stove - well a temporary one.

Loads of little faces - and some bigger ones too.
Thanks Carol and your helpers.

Pipes

We've got them.

Check out your last newsletter.

Mathematics?

How do you describe a Wednesday to make sure it is the one before the last Sunday in the month.

It is not the last Wednesday because that might be before the last Sunday, or not.

The second last? Well that could be two weeks before the last Sunday.

One of the committee thought it was like her primary class trying to do it and burst out laughing.

Anyway - it is the Wednesday before the last Sunday - sorted !!

That's when we have our wardens' meetings, usually at 7:30.

You don't have to be on the committee, wear a special hat, just be interested in what happens at Wooplaw.

(Sounds like another webpage needed)

Anyway - that is when they'll be next year.

This month we need one to look at the plan after the walk so that's the exception that proves the rule.

If you'd like to join us, often in the cabin, just use the contact page on the website to get in touch. Or just turn up.

Tweed Valley Forest Festival

The conkers championship got on the BBC news site.

Same again for next year.

Tomorrow !!

Woodlanders

There's a book launch on Saturday afternoon in St Andrews Square, Edinburgh

Here's a video of some of the people and things in it with Ian Edwards the editor.

This link goes to the publisher's site so you can look inside the book, and Reforesting

Scotland made it happen with Donald McPhillimy writing the bit about Wooplaw.

You'll be able to meet a whole load of the contributors and a lot of them have even visited Wooplaw.

So you can get your diary up to date.
If you're thinking of giving a diary for Christmas

Calendar.
2010
